Testimonials

Raman Aggarwal

Chief Executive Officer
Finance Industry Development Council (FIDC)

It's great to see such focused discussions around technology, inclusion, and the future of NBFCs. What stood out for me was how the sector is evolving as a regulated, technology-driven ecosystem contributing strongly to inclusive growth. The conversations around digital lending, Aadhaar-led transformation, and regular data-driven reporting were very relevant and insightful. Elets is doing a phenomenal job by bringing the right industry leaders and tech perspectives together on one platform.

Shiv Maiyl

Head of Sales – BFSI & Platforms, India Business
Tata Consultancy Services (TCS)

It's great to be part of a platform like the NBFC Tech Summit, where NBFCs, technology partners, and industry stakeholders are coming together. We had the opportunity to interact with many customers, OEMs, and partners across cybersecurity, cloud, and digital transformation spaces. One key message from our side is that TCS is fully committed to the NBFC segment with tailor-made solutions, platforms, infrastructure, and applications designed specifically for NBFCs.

Ajay Thomas

Group Chief Digital Officer
Shriram Capital

Absolutely lovely atmosphere, lots of speakers, insights, and companies here – very well done. The discussions around AI, analytics, and removing inefficiencies in NBFCs were very relevant. What really stands out today is how digital payments and UPI transactions have accelerated transformation and financial inclusion even in the most rural areas. Platforms like these create opportunities for companies to collaborate, co-create, learn from each other, and build stronger industry connections.

Ruben Alink

Managing Director
APAC, ACTICO

What India is doing in digital lending is very smart – having a good regulator in place, smart decisioning, and absolute growth. The discussions around financial inclusion and how financial products can reach people in rural areas were really important. The enthusiasm in the room, the action, and the conversations around AI, regulation, and growth were overwhelming. Events like this really help bring together the ecosystem and drive meaningful discussions for the NBFC industry.

Events like the Elets NBFC100 Tech Summit are creating meaningful conversations around digitisation, data-driven lending, and customer intelligence. The discussions around CKYC, Account Aggregators, and digital ecosystems clearly reflect how the industry is moving towards faster onboarding, better financial insights, and more seamless customer experiences.

“

What really stood out for us at this summit was how strongly the NBFC industry is focused on solving real operational problems through technology. The discussions around AI, calling dependency, and digital transformation were very relevant. At Runo, we have always believed in building solutions that address real pain points, and it's encouraging to see the enthusiasm and action in the room around technologies that can genuinely improve efficiency, monitoring, and customer engagement.

Amit Sharma
MD & CEO
Satin Housing Finance Ltd.

“

It's an awesome platform. It gives people like us valuable insights and opportunities to meet, greet, and collaborate with others. Every time we cannot talk only of numbers, and since we all come from very different backgrounds with varied experiences, collaboration is the name of the game in the future. The discussions around regulation, digitisation, AI, and financial inclusion were very insightful, and I think this platform really brings the NBFC ecosystem together.

Pradeep Vasudevan
Segment Leader, Data & AI
IBM India & South Asia

“

It was very insightful with a lot of discussions, and I was really excited to see the extent of investment NBFCs are making with the help of AI. One thing that really impressed me was how AI is being utilized to reach semi-urban and rural customers and assess credit risk beyond traditional methods. The conversations around AI governance, data protection, explainability, and responsible decision-making were extremely important for the future of digital lending.
