Industry Speaks

“It was very insightful with a lot of discussions, and I was really excited to see the extent of investment NBFCs are making with the help of AI. One thing that really impressed me was how AI is being utilized to reach semi-urban and rural customers and assess credit risk beyond traditional methods. The conversations around AI governance, data protection, explainability, and responsible decision-making were extremely important for the future of digital lending.”

Pradeep Vasudevan

Segment Leader, Data & AI, IBM
India & South Asia

“What really stood out for us at this summit was how strongly the NBFC industry is focused on solving real operational problems through technology. The discussions around AI, calling dependency, and digital transformation were very relevant. At Runo, we have always believed in building solutions that address real pain points, and it’s encouraging to see the enthusiasm and action in the room around technologies that can genuinely improve efficiency, monitoring, and customer engagement.”

Rajsekhar Patnaik

Founder & CEO, Runo

“It’s great to be part of a platform like the NBFC Tech Summit, where NBFCs, technology partners, and industry stakeholders are coming together. We had the opportunity to interact with many customers, OEMs, and partners across cybersecurity, cloud, and digital transformation spaces. One key message from our side is that TCS is fully committed to the NBFC segment with tailor-made solutions, platforms, infrastructure, and applications designed specifically for NBFCs.”

Shiv Maiya

Head of Sales – BFSI & Platforms, India
Business, Tata Consultancy Services (TCS)

Industry Speaks

“We leverage our large Zoho ecosystem for cross-selling, prioritize organic marketing through content, and emphasize engagement over conversion in our campaigns. Events like the NBFC Tech Summit are crucial; they provide direct industry insights and customer feedback that help us refine features, enhance support, and understand regulatory needs better. It’s a great platform to connect with NBFCs and align our product evolution with their expectations.”

Nikkitha Senthil

Product Marketing Manager, Zoho ZeptoMail

“What India is doing in digital lending is very smart - having a good regulator in place, smart decisioning, and absolute growth. The discussions around financial inclusion and how financial products can reach people in rural areas were really important. The enthusiasm in the room, the action, and the conversations around AI, regulation, and growth were overwhelming. Events like this really help bring together the ecosystem and drive meaningful discussions for the NBFC industry.”

Ruben Alink

Managing Director – APAC, ACTICO

“Elets Technomedia has been doing a tremendous job in bringing together diverse stakeholders from across the BFSI ecosystem. CredAble has had the privilege of participating in several of their events and panel discussions, and it’s always been an enriching experience. This year too, Elets has succeeded in gathering some of the most influential voices from the industry, creating a true knowledge hub. Over the last two decades, Elets has consistently provided a credible platform for the exchange of ideas, collaboration, and innovation – helping the industry move forward together.”

Manu Prakash

MD and Head – Debt & Capital Markets, India SaaS & FI Coverage, CredAble
